Women Suffer Agonies from Diseased Kidneys

And Most Women Do This Not Knowing the Real Cause of their Condition

These poor, suffering women have been led to believe that their misery of mind and body is entirely due to "ills of their sex." Usually the kidneys and bladder are responsible—or largely so. And in such cases, the kidneys and bladder are the organs, that need and must have attention.

Those torturing, enervating sick headaches, dragging pains in back, groin and limbs, bloating and swelling of the extremities, extreme nervousness or hysteria, listlessness and constant tired, worn-out feeling—are almost certain symptoms of diseased and diseased kidneys, bladder and liver.

DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills have, in thousands of cases, been demonstrated as remarkably beneficial in all such conditions of female organs—affording the most prompt relief and permanent benefit.

As an illustration of what these Pills will do, Mrs. P. M. Gray of Columbus, Ga., writes that she was very ill with kidney trouble, and that she is now "well—and that these Pills are what cured her."

They are very pleasant to take, and can in no case, produce any deleterious effects upon the system—as syrupy, alcoholic, liquid preparations.

THE MAN AND THE METHOD.

Among many interesting and instructive features of the late national horticultural congress at Council Bluffs, Ia., perhaps none has received greater commendation and publicity than the apple exhibit of a Mr. Mincer of Hamilton, Ia., a little town located in Fremont, the southwest corner of the state. It seems that Mr. Mincer has for several years past had charge of a twenty acre orchard, which for some time previous had been badly neglected. On taking charge he began spraying and gave the orchard in other respects the best care he could. Last year he attended the horticultural show at Council Bluffs and exhibited a few apples, but they were not up to the standard of the western fruit. However, he kept his eyes open, took notes and pumped the western ranchmen as to how they produced their fine fruit. He found that it was by giving intensive, painstaking care to a few acres which made improved methods possible. He acted on this suggestion and devoted most of his attention last season to seven acres. When he appeared at the fruit show last November he had an exhibit which was considered by both visitors and judges to be one of the very finest in the hall. He had gained size and color, while in the packing of his exhibit he had been assisted by a young lady who had had experience in Idaho packing houses. The net result of his efforts was that he was awarded a number of the most valuable prizes and trophies which were put up. On the business side he not only received a high price for the choice apples left after his show stock was selected, but he offered $3 a box straight for his exhibit fruit. This advance not only puts to the immense educational value of these national fruit exhibits in providing a stimulus for better efforts, but shows what is even more important—that after all is said and done it is more the man and his method than it is climate and soil that are the chief determining factors in the attainment of success in the fruit business. This man's achievement should be a source of encouragement to fruit growers in all sections.

POOR CLAY TILE.

Not long ago there appeared an article in this department warning prospective users of drainage against cement tile improperly made. A friend who is engaged in the manufacture of cement tile in a letter received a short time ago admits the truth and fairness of the article, but thinks it gives the impression that no poor clay tile are made. We are glad to hear this, but this is far from the truth. If the clay body from which the tile is made contains an excess of lime and magnesia or other ingredients are from the silicon and aluminum compounds, which should largely compose it, they are quite likely to lack uniformity of texture, will be too brittle and are apt to give under the severe and ordinary soil or air conditions. And it goes without saying that a collapsed clay tile is just as worthless as a shoddy cement tile. As in the case of the cement tile, much will depend upon the integrity and reputation of the firm manufacturing. The only point in favor of the clay tile is that it is not the incentive present to scrimp expense in the cost of manufacture, as is the case with the manufacturer of cement tile in the use of poor sand and in the reduction of the per cent of cement below the proper amount. A clay drain system is no better than the poorest section in it, hence he who has in view such a system of drainage should exercise the greatest caution that the tile used should be above defect or reproach, and this holds true especially of both the burned clay and the cement product.

FAMILY AND MARKET ORCHARDS.

For the apple orchard which is to produce fruit for family use only it does very well to see several varieties, which will answer the several purposes for which the fruit is used and will cover all seasons of consumption as possible. But if the apples are to be grown for the market it is by all means best to restrict the varieties set to one or two kinds which are known to be prolific and hardy and will fetch a good price at the season when the market must be met. A buyer would always prefer to handle a carload of fruit of uniform quality and one variety than a conglomerate, mixed up assortment, even if the several varieties ripened at the same time, which is rarely the case. We are well aware of the fact that if left to himself many a nurseryman will load his patrons up with just as many varieties—good, bad and indifferent—as he will take, but he ignores the conditions which make the largest success possible when he does so.

It was a geologist and prospector who discovered that the Widow Carson's farm forty miles from the recognized oil fields, was the center of another basin and so reported to the Sunshine Crude Oil Producing company, capital $1,000,000. That company had gobbled up all the best wells in a large district and was rapidly controlling production. It was not long before the company was in a position to produce a million barrels a day. The first thing was to get the legal rights of the land, and this was a task which took a long time. The first thing was to get the legal rights of the land, and this was a task which took a long time. The first thing was to get the legal rights of the land, and this was a task which took a long time.

When Moses Perkins had got it into his head that he was a Widow Carson somewhere on earth who was of interest to the Sunshine company he figured that it could mean only one thing. Then he began to inquire around, and after a week he lighted on a man who could tell him. Then he put a shirt, collar and a pair of socks into an old satchel and set out for the forty mile walk. In the evening of the second day he arrived at the widow's. He found her and her children as above described. It was next to impossible to get a word from her, but Moses did. A company wanted her farm for a quarry, and she was ready enough to sign any sort of paper the next day.

For six weeks longer Moses was taken for a chap with savantism in his head. The lawyers and speculators and rings tried in every way to get the best of him, but what they cursed as his stupidity helped him to hold his own. Then he woke up one morning with his head all right. He had found out the fact to the world at large; also that the farm was for lease or sale. The Sunshine people were not the only ones to rush. Three houses were made, and three companies pledged themselves to pay royalties, and inside of a year Moses Perkins was a millionaire. The Perkins family were eating square meals. The Carson basin turned out to be the greatest find in the state.
